Stephen Prutsman

“Stephen Prutsman’s program, grounded in Bach, was in the end a tribute to Bach, who summed up what had happened before and anticipated much of what was to come...

The musical connections Mr. Prutsman made were so intriguing, and his playing so earnest and sensitive, that you never doubted the integrity of this musical adventure...

He let the music do the talking.” Anthony Tommasini, The New York Times

BRIEFING

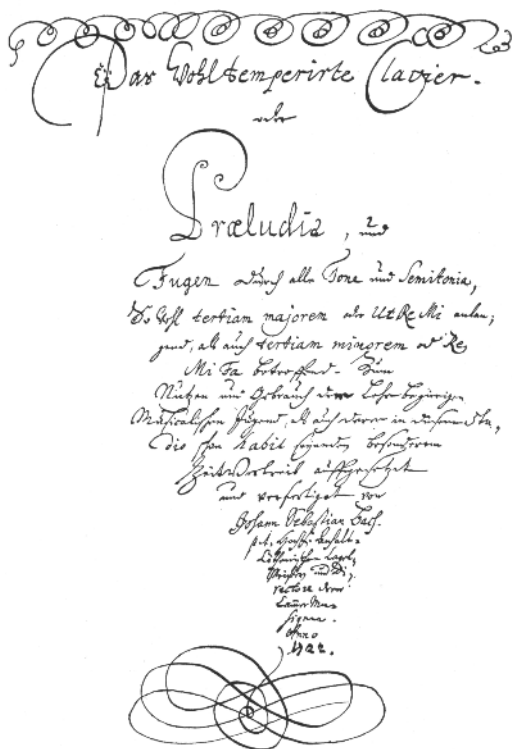

Bach’s Well-Tempered Clavier (WTC)

- 48 Preludes and 48 Fugues in all the major and minor keys, in two parts
- A landmark of musical history and one of the finest masterpieces of the 18th century
- Among very few works by Bach played continuously since their composition to the present day
- Earliest draft of “the 48”: 1715-20

- Part 1 completed 1721-22, though Bach made corrections and additions to his death
- Part 2 compiled 1742, Bach again making later tweaks
- “Well-tempered” means “appropriately tuned”
- There was no standard method of tuning in Bach’s day and we don’t know which method he used
- “Clavier” is a generic term for “keyboard”
- Bach’s keyboard compass suggests he meant “the 48” for all keyboard players (harpsichord, clavichord, organ—the piano was then in its infancy and Bach is known to have played it only once)
- Composed for both students and the skilled
- First complete publications: 1801-02 in Paris, Bonn, Zurich, Leipzig, Vienna
- First critical editions: 1862, 1866
- Bach juxtaposes free preludes where his imagination roams freely with the rigorously disciplined contrapuntal structure of the fugues
- Has been a part of the training of virtually every classically trained pianist today
- One of the most influential works ever to have been written

STEPHEN PRUTSMAN, piano

A pianist, composer and conductor, Stephen Prutsman explores music of all cultures and languages. He has served as Artistic Partner with the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra as well as Artistic Director of the Cartagena International Festival of Music, South

America's largest festival of its kind. In the early '90s, Mr. Prutsman was a medal winner at the Tchaikovsky and Queen Elisabeth Piano competitions and received an Avery Fisher Career Grant. Since then he has performed as soloist with the world's leading orchestras and has an extensive, critically acclaimed classical discography. Mr. Prutsman first began playing the piano by ear at age three, before his more formal music studies. In his teens and early 20s, he was the keyboard player for several art rock groups including Cerberus and Vysion, as well as a solo jazz pianist and music arranger. A former student of Aube Tzerko, Leon Fleisher and Jack Wilson, he studied at the University of California at Los Angeles and the Peabody Conservatory of Music. Passionate about the value of music for all, Mr. Prutsman actively promotes music and arts education, especially projects that create enjoyable artistic environments for autistic children and their families. He lives in San Francisco.
